LETTER FROM THE CHAIR

April 2017

Happy Spring!

It is hard to believe that summer is right around the corner and with that comes our Annual Scientific Assembly. On behalf of the NJAFP Board of Trustees and the staff, I happily extend this invitation to join your fellow family physicians in Atlantic City for the 2017 Scientific Assembly: The Family Medicine Conference in New Jersey.

This year we are returning to Caesars Atlantic City. Mark your calendar for June 9-11, and be sure to mark June 8th if you are planning to attend the Practice Transformation Learning Event. Once again, you can expect high quality sessions on how to improve all areas of clinical practice. Our goal is to provide an environment and experience that empowers you to gain a fresh outlook on the practice of Family Medicine.

This year's conference will kick-off with a Practice Transformation Learning Event: Making the Case for Value-Based Care. At this session, you will join fellow family physicians and other primary care providers from across the state in a hands-on, peer-led session focused on helping you make improvements in your practice to improve patient care and meet your MACRA/MIPS requirements!

This year's Scientific Assembly will highlight national thought leaders as well as new and engaging hot topics from our in-state experts. The program will cover important updates in clinical care that impact patient outcomes such as improving vaccination rates, treating diabetes with co-occurring depression, anti-inflammatory diets and much more. We are also offering a course on opioid prescribing and addiction, which will fill your state-mandated CME requirement. This year also brings the opportunity to participate in Project ECHO on Sunday morning. Start pulling together your difficult cases in thyroid disorders and HIV/HCV and learn from experts in these areas. You can find more details on individual sessions in the pages that follow. I can guarantee you won't want to miss this event!

The Sunday Skills Workshops are back! Build your resiliency skills and learn how to minimize and even avoid burnout. You can also build your skills in motivational interviewing. At the conclusion of the scientific program, we will offer our first ABFM Knowledge Self-Assessment on diabetes. Attend this session and earn an additional 8 Prescribed credits.

On Friday, June 9th, The House of Delegates will convene at 8:00 am for NJAFP's annual business meeting. All members are welcome to attend, but why not take this opportunity to get involved. Consider sitting as a delegate for your county or writing a resolution to help guide Academy policy for the coming year. Contact Ray Saputelli, MBA, CAE, Executive Vice President, for more information.

It has been my honor and absolute pleasure to work with our Academy staff on creating such an exciting and interesting event for you. Please mark your calendars now and register before the early bird deadline. I look forward to seeing all of you in Atlantic City and I hope you enjoy this year's Assembly.

Sincerely,
NEW JERSEY ACADEMY OF FAMILY PHYSICIANS

Lauren Carruth, MD

HAPPENINGS Practice Transformation Learning Event: Making the Case for Value-Based Care^{*†^}

10:00AM – 4:00PM

Co-hosted by the New Jersey Academy of Family Physicians and Garden Practice Transformation Network.

Join fellow primary care providers and specialists from across the state in this hands-on, peer-led session to learn how to make changes in your practice to improve patient care and maximize your MIPS measures.

CONVERSATIONS Town Hall

7:00PM – 9:00PM

As health care reform continues to evolve and change, it is more important than ever for you to know how these changes are going to affect you and your patients. NJAFP is here to make sure you have access to the information you need. Plan to attend this year's Town Hall meeting and be part of the conversation.

Friday, June 9, 2017

FORGING AHEAD House of Delegates

8:00AM – 3:00PM

The House of Delegates, the annual business meeting for the NJAFP, convenes promptly at 8:00AM and will recess at 3:00PM, or upon the conclusion of business. Registration for delegates opens at 7:00AM.

THE MAIN EVENT #1 CME Sessions

CME sessions begin Friday afternoon at 3:30PM.

FAMILY MEDICINE SCHOLARSHIP Research Poster Presentations

(continues on Saturday)

Family physicians, family medicine residents, and medical students attending one of New Jersey's allopathic medical schools are asked to submit research projects in areas of interest to the specialty of Family Medicine. Contact the NJAFP office for more information.

NETWORKING Exhibitors' Reception

6:30PM – 8:30PM

Catch up with old friends, make some new ones, and thank our exhibitors and sponsors who help make this conference possible. Food, drink, and excellent conversation are ensured.

CHEER YOUR TEAM

The Resident Knowledge Bowl

8:30PM – 10:30PM

The Resident Knowledge Bowl has become a wildly successful event. We are revamping the Knowledge Bowl to make it a better experience for everyone. Stay tuned for details, but plan to come and support your favorite Knowledge Bowl team.

Saturday, June 10, 2017

THE MAIN EVENT #2 CME Sessions

CME sessions begin at 8:00AM.

CELEBRATE! The President's Gala*

6:00PM – 11:30PM

Installations, Awards, special thank you's and Kenny I. What better way to build an evening to honor those family physicians that have made a difference in the world of family medicine and celebrate the installation of NJAFP's new president, Peter Carrazzone, MD.

Sunday, June 11, 2017

MAIN EVENT #3 CME Sessions

CME Sessions begin at 8:30AM.

This year our Sunday Main Event includes ECHO Sunday. Join your colleagues and experts from Project ECHO to share case studies in thyroid disorders and the management of patients with HIV/HCV. ECHO sessions are scheduled for 11:00AM and 12:00PM.

FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 2017

Time	Session	Topic
------	---------	-------

3:30PM – 4:25PM	FR1	Treating IBS: Listen, Look, and Learn From Your Patients Lawrence Schiller, MD, FACP, FACP Family physicians face the everyday challenge of providing individualized, safe, and effective care for patients with irritable bowel syndrome (IBS). Though not a life-threatening condition, it remains a condition that can be difficult to diagnose and creates frustration for both healthcare providers and their patients. This educational activity will focus on a patient-centered approach to the diagnosis and management of IBS.
4:30PM – 5:25PM	FR2	Mild to Moderate Atopic Dermatitis: Pathogenesis and Targeted Therapies for Improved Outcomes Lisa Beck, MD Providing individualized, safe, and effective care for patients with mild to moderate atopic dermatitis (AD) can be a challenge. A greater understanding of this disorder is critical to maximizing patient outcomes. With access to up-to-date information, you will be better able to care for these individuals and successfully address issues encountered in daily clinical practice.
5:30PM – 6:25PM	FR3	Don't Wait — Vaccinate t₂p Everett Schlam, MD From the re-emergence of measles to the changes and challenges of HPV immunization, convincing our patients to get vaccinated is vital to populations and patient health. Join Everett Schlam in a discussion of the current immunization environment and leave with some clinical pearls to improve immunization rates in your practice.

SATURDAY, JUNE 10, 2017

Time	Session	Topic

7:00AM – 8:00AM		Breakfast on the Exhibit Floor
8:00AM – 8:55AM	SA1	Co-Occurring Depression and T2DM t₂p Pam Valenza, MD and Jim Feldman, PhD, LCSW Physicians often normalize depression among patients with chronic diseases such as diabetes and therefore do not diagnose or provide treatment. Chronic diseases and depression are bidirectional. Patients with depression are at risk for preventable chronic diseases, such as diabetes, earlier in life due to unhealthy behaviors. Conversely, depression worsens chronic conditions because of various factors including poor treatment adherence. Join a family physician and a behavioral health specialist as they discuss the effective management of these co-morbid conditions.
	SA2	A Value-Based Approach to Managing Diabetes and Other Chronic Conditions Dan Bowles, MBA, MPP Quality over cost over time... the value based equation that ensures patients get appropriate care with effective results at a reasonable cost. Value-based approaches to care employ evidence-based medicine and treatment that takes into account the patient's preferences and wishes. This program will explore value-based care and what it means to your practice.
9:00AM – 9:25AM		Fast Facts Sessions
	FF1	Rash Decisions Everett Schlam, MD The demand for dermatology services in the United States far exceeds the supply of dermatologists. Fortunately, many common dermatological issues can be diagnosed and treated in the family physician office. Join Dr. Everett Schlam as he presents the latest in the treatment of common dermatological conditions.

FF2 Updates from the US Preventive Services Task Force

Ryan Kauffman, MD

Join Ryan Kauffman as he takes you through a whirlwind tour of the latest USPSTF updates related to aspirin, breast feeding, COPD screening, folic acid, genital herpes, lipids in children, latent TB screening, Pelvic exams, skin cancer, sleep apnea, and syphilis – followed by a closer look at colorectal cancer screening and statins for primary prevention.

9:25AM – 10:00AM

Break on the Exhibit Floor

10:00AM – 11:00AM

SA3 The Healthcare Mystery

A myriad of factors impact the physician's ability to effectively care for their patients. Delve into this exploration of the mysteries of health care. Go to <http://www.njafp.org/content/2017-scientific-assembly> for more details.

11:00AM – 12:00PM

SA4 Frank C. Snope, MD Keynote Address
Healthcare 2017: Perspectives from the AAFP

John Cullen, MD (AAFP)

As the debate around health care reform rages on, AAFP is advocating for family physicians and patients. Plan to join AAFP Director John Cullen, MD as he discusses these important issues and the AAFP's response.

12:00PM – 2:00PM

Lunch on the Exhibit Floor

2:00PM – 2:55PM

SA5 Tobacco Dependence and Smoking Cessation

Frank Leone, MD

Cigarette smoking and exposure to secondhand smoke results in significant morbidity and mortality in the United States each year and you are in the perfect position to help patients quit smoking. Did you know that even brief advice makes an impact? Join Frank Leone as he takes you on an energetic exploration of tobacco's impact on chronic disease, smoking's characteristics as a compulsive disorder and evidence-based treatments.

SA6 An Integrative Approach to Sleep Disorders

Robert Eidus, MD, MBA

Life's frenetic pace does not contribute to good sleep. Caffeine, light at night, and media overstimulation break our natural rhythm and sleep becomes an elusive dream. It is known that lack of sleep can contribute to respiratory and cardiac disease and a host of other conditions. Rather than reliance on medication, taking an integrative approach to sleep disorders allows us to reframe sleep health and insomnia and expands significantly the range of interventions. Join this presentation and learn how to help your patients get back to sleep.

3:00PM – 4:00PM

SA7 DSME in the Management of Diabetes ^{t2p}

Kristen Garron, RD, CDE, LDN

Diabetes Self-Management Education (DSME) - the ongoing process of facilitating the knowledge, skill, and ability necessary for self-care - is critical to patients who have diabetes and those at risk for developing it. DSME, when practiced, has the ability to delay or prevent diabetic complications. In this session, Kristen Garron, a certified diabetes educator, will present the elements of DSME and how to refer your patients to this very important resource.

SA8 Palliative Care of Patients with Advanced Dementia and Alzheimer's

Ritu Suri, MD

Dementia and Alzheimer's disease place a great burden on society, as well as on the patients and their caregivers who have an overwhelming amount of psychosocial and physical needs as the end of life approaches. Effective palliative care lessens caregiver burden, improves patients' symptoms, and helps to ensure decisions for treatment are made in the context of patient and family goals. This session will explore the palliative care process for patients with dementia and Alzheimer's.

4:00PM – 5:25PM

SA9 The Anti-Inflammatory Diet

Robert Eidus, MD, MBA

It is a fact that inflammation is the body's healing response to infection or injury, but if it then persists and serves no purpose, inflammation can cause damage. Exposure to toxins, stress, genetics, and lack of exercise can contribute to chronic inflammation. But did you know that diet can also play a role in the inflammatory process? Join Bob Eidus as he discusses the science behind anti-inflammatory diets, and why you should be talking to your patients about them.

SA10 Managing the Challenges of Asthma and COPD

Judd Flesch, MD

Asthma and COPD are two of the leading causes of morbidity and mortality. The burden of these diseases has a negative impact on the individual and their quality of life. While treatment options exist, long-term adherence is required for success. This session will explore the challenges in the management of asthma and COPD as well as the barriers to successful treatment.

11:00AM – 11:55AM	SU3	Complex Endo ECHO – Thyroid Disorder Panel: Complex Endocrinology ECHO Leaders NJAFP launches a collaboration with RWJ Partners Project ECHO with a live face-to-face and online ECHO Clinic as part of its Complex Endocrinology ECHO. This Clinic on thyroid disorder will be led by a multidisciplinary team of NJ-based endocrine specialists, known as the “Hub” leaders. This is a national movement linking primary care with specialists to improve outcomes, brought to the Garden State by RWJ and to family medicine by NJAFP. Do not miss this opportunity! Plan to attend! Have a case for this session? Go to http://www.njafp.org/content/echo-sunday to submit your case questions.
12:00PM – 12:55PM	SU4	Safe Zone: Caring for Patients with HIV/HCV Vinod Rustgi, MD, MBA, FAASLD, FACP, AGAF, FACG, FRCP Another RWJ Partners’ Project ECHO collaboration! Dr. Rustgi is a national leader in the field and heads the upcoming NJ-based HCV ECHO Hub. Co-infection of HIV and HCV is an emerging public health issue with significant clinical implications. There is a poor awareness on the part of physicians and patients on the need for HIV and HCV screening and a lack of honest and open communication contributes to the spread of infection. This case-based ECHO-like clinic will explore the HIV and HCV infection and discuss screening and treatment/prevention strategies. Stick around to get the scoop on the ECHO/NJAFP collaboration to form a HCV ECHO. Have a case for this session? Go to http://www.njafp.org/content/echo-sunday to submit your case questions.

Sunday Skills Workshops (Separate registration & fee required – and limited space)

8:30AM - 10:30AM

SYS1 Sharpen Your Skill Workshop 1 Mindfulness and Resilience for the Active Practitioner Chantal Brazeau, MD

Attend this interactive workshop and develop skills to foster mindfulness and resilience in a world where burnout is all too common. You will leave with tools that you can use to foster resilience for yourself and your healthcare team.

Attendance is limited to 30 attendees. Fee: $30
 The fee covers all instructional materials.

11:00AM - 1:00PM

SYS2 Sharpen Your Skill Workshop 2 Motivational Interviewing Scott Glassman, PsyD

Motivational interviewing is a patient-centered approach to helping patients explore and resolve issues that keep them from reaching their goals. This technique guides patients through the stages of readiness for change and helps them identify feelings and thoughts that cause the continuance of unhealthy behaviors. Attend this hands-on, interactive session and develop – or sharpen – your motivational interviewing skills.

Attendance is limited to 30 attendees. Fee: $30
 The fee covers all instructional materials.

1:00PM

Scientific Assembly Concludes

1:15PM - 6:00PM

KSA Study Hall: Diabetes Ryan Kauffman, MD

Participants will work together to complete the sixty-question diabetes knowledge self-assessment (KSA) during this study group. Answers will automatically be sent to the ABFM on their behalf. Participate, pass the self-assessment and get 8 hours of prescribed CME credit (and 10 ABFM points). Those who wish can stay to complete the clinical self-assessment (CSA) and get another 4 hours of prescribed CME credit (and 5 ABFM points).

Bring your computer, or other electronic device, to use the audience response system and complete the clinical simulation.

This session requires a separate registration. The fee covers all instruction, materials, breaks and lunch.

2017 SCIENTIFIC ASSEMBLY

The New Jersey Family Medicine Conference

This meeting was designed with you in mind!

Sharpen Your Skills – with a learning session focused on practice transformation and CME sessions to inform and educate.

Explore – the latest research in Family Medicine through the Research Poster Presentation and test your own knowledge at the Residents Knowledge Bowl.

Celebrate – Dine and dance the night away at the elegant President’s Gala.

Network – Come together with friends and colleagues; explore the Exhibit Floor as exhibitors and sponsors share the latest technology, therapies and pharmacological advances.

Participate – Be a part of the Academy’s conversations. Share your voice and ideas as we work toward making New Jersey a better place for Family Medicine.
